

THE CAPITAL JOURNAL.

(DAILY AND WEEKLY.)

BY HOFER BROTHERS.

SATURDAY, JULY 20, 1906.

It is difficult to understand just what claim Mr. J. L. Cowan has for a position in the politics of the state or what claim he has to a place in the public service. He says in print that he wanted the place of deputy collector of internal revenue because he needed it and because his former assistance of Democrats and the party warranted him in asking for it. He has found Blackman out, he says, for whom he has done especial favors, and Blackman is a man who recognizes no moral obligation and does not know what base ingratitude is. He attributes his defeat to Mr. A. Bush, of Salem. Mr. Bush had lost money by Mr. Cowan's banking operations, and evidently could have had him appointed as many another bankrupt is to help the creditors get something. But it seems Mr. Bush does not make his losses by prostitution of his party and the public service. When THE JOURNAL first referred to Cowan's "sacrifices" for his party and said he would probably be rewarded with an office, this was vehemently denied by Mr. Cowan and his friends. What the Cowans should do is to get out of public life and by hard work and great economy pay those who have suffered losses through them in their Linn county financial operations and thus recover the good name for solvency and probity that every man should prize above official honors and everything else in this world.

THE JOURNAL'S hot weather items are out of season.

The U. S. Government Tests Show the Absolute Superiority of Royal Baking Powder.

(Data from the latest Official U. S. Government Report on Baking Powders, Department of Agriculture, Bulletin 13, page 599.)

ROYAL is placed first of the cream of tartar powders; actual strength, 160.6 cubic inches of leavening gas per ounce of powder.

Every other powder tested exhibited a much lower strength than the Royal, the average being 33 per cent. less.

Every other powder likewise showed the presence of alum or sulphuric acid.

The claim that this report shows any other powder of superior strength or purity has been denounced as a falsehood by the Government officers who made the tests.

The wood dealers are certainly justifiable in forming an organization to protect their business. The hop growers and the dairymen have done so, and if the woodcutters can organize so as to get the labor cost out of their product they will have done a good thing. It does not understand that the wood is to be pooled in the hands of a manager at all, but that men will bid to supply wood to the state institutions, county institutions, schools and colleges, and to other business men and families just as they always have, but ruinous competition and barter and trade at prices below what men and horses can sustain at, will be stopped as far as possible. We all know that this is a hard thing to manage, but when any article falls below a living price all traffic in that article is only a detriment to all concerned. Men who own the wood farms cannot support their families and pay their taxes under present conditions and every one of them should join the union and live up to its agreements so far as they conduce to bring about a change to better conditions. Nearly all these men are in debt, and many of them have borrowed the money to pay their taxes. It is to this class of citizens who are engaged in the struggle for an existence and to make fruit farms and keep their homes and support their families and send their children to school, that our hearts should go out and help. The union cannot say to whom any man shall sell wood, nor at what price. But by the right spirit of mutual cooperation the men who supply the 40,000 cords of wood burned each year at Salem, can deliver it under more favorable conditions and not have to sell it at actual loss under destructive forces of competition, as they have the past year. If Salem burned coal instead of wood, the owners of the coal mine would long ago have done just what the wood men now seek to accomplish. Only the wood men are more scattered and cannot organize their separate interests so easily as a corporation could that would own the coal mine. The principle is just the same, only men are human beings and appeal to our sense of justice and right more than does a corporation.

The silver debate between Horr and Harvey is being read in every community of the country, from sea to sea. Horr has been wisely selected as the champion of the goldbugs because he is a slippery politician and a serviceable buffoon who long ago sold his soul to the corporations and Wallstreet. Harvey is dead in earnest and feels the moral weight of the cause he represents. Horr has for ten years ceased to represent the people and has been the versatile mouthpiece of the New York Tribune, which is the organ of the Goulds, Vanderbilts and other millionaires who have been made such by watered stock and over-capitalization of the railroad properties of the United States. These people all own securities payable in gold and are the enemies of any system of finance that does justice to the producer. Horr was selected not because he represents any principle but because it is hoped that as a buffoon may ridicule the cause of silver off the stage. He is a typical representative of the bankers and corporations. Their motto is: "Let the present system alone; it is all right; only let us issue the money for the people, and issue all the watered stock we want to, and loan the govern-

Mehama Encampment.
MEHAMA, July 19.—I wish I could give your readers a pen picture of the "old camp ground" as it looked to me tonight. The boys in blue and their friends were out strong; the grounds seemed filled with people, a good natured merry throng. Overhead the stars shone in countless thousands. The cool breeze brought with it a sweet odor of piney woods. The raised campfires threw their generous beams on all alike, illuminating the rough pine benches, the white tents, and the campers in countless thousands.
